Overview

According to Ottman, an important attribute of the accomplished musician is the ability to “hear mentally” that is, to know how a given piece of music sounds without recourse to an instrument. Our goal in MUS 111 is to develop this essential aural skill through sight-singing and dictation. As the first of the four-semester sequence (Aural Theory I-IV), this course will emphasize on singing and aurally identifying all chromatic intervals and basic triads.

Required Materials

- Textbook : Music for Sight Singing by Ottman and Rogers (7th or the latest edition)
- Staff paper and pencil (NOT pen) : These are used for dictation.

Expectations

- Come to every class on time and be ready to talk about the subject matter. Participation is a portion of your final grade. For every unexcused absence beyond your third, I reserve the right to drop your final grade by 5%. For every unexcused tardies to class beyond your third, I reserve the right to drop your final grade by 3% If you know you can't make it to class or if some emergency keeps you from coming, please let me know, and we'll make the needed arrangements. You are responsible for all material covered in class regardless of your attendance record.
- Do your assignment and learn the ideas it presents. Late assignments are not accepted.
- Be honest in the work that you do. Plagiarism means presenting someone else's work (be it ideas, words, or music) as your own. This and all other forms of cheating are absolutely forbidden. Consequences for academic dishonesty may include earning a failing grade for the course or even expulsion from the college.
- Check your CCP email and the class website regularly. I will email schedule/assignment changes. The class website will contain files needed for homework and projects.
